View all the items in color and download easy-to-print pages of color images, order forms, and leaflets about our project from the fundraising campaign web page. A full online ordering system is coming in January 2004.

Explore our site. Tens of thousands of people from around the world have visited our website to browse the hundreds of pages of historic feminist writings, documents, memoirs, photos, art and music. Students from grade school to grad school use our site for projects and professors routinely assign readings from it. Young people need to know the living history of feminism in order to protect our victories and to win new ones.

This fundraising campaign is our sole financial support. We are an all-volunteer project working out of our homes. Busy people with work, school and family responsibilities have put in thousands of work-hours and made small financial contributions to keep us going this far. Center for Research on Women and Gender at the University of Illinois at Chicago sponsors the project, but we have received no university or foundation funding — although we've tried. Grants are hard to get during these times of budget cutbacks. CWLU Herstory Project is a 501c3 nonprofit organization.

Pass this on to your friends.

This membership and fundraising request was sent to a short list of supporters only. The success of the fundraising campaign depends on you. Please send the information by email or postal mail to feminists in your network. It's best to include a personal note. People can download their own information and order forms from the fundraising campaign web page.

The "Sisterhood Is Blooming" original silkscreen poster.

We still have copies of this 25-year old hand-silkscreened poster saved from the days of the Women's Graphics Collective (1969-1983). It's one of the high-end membership premiums ($200) but well worth the investment.
